

XV Latin American Symposium on Chronobiology 2019

Colonia del Sacramento - Uruguay

October 7-11, 2019

Hotel Mirador

Since 1989, the Latin American chronobiology community gathers every 2 years in the Latin American Symposium on Chronobiology (LASC). To celebrate its 30th anniversary, the LASC 2019 will be held, for the first time in Uruguay, in the charming city of Colonia de Sacramento, Uruguay.

LASC registration and Abstract submission are now open!!,

Students and Post-docs: applications for the Latin American School of Chronobiology and Sleep, and for registration waivers are now open!!

www.LASC2019.org

contact: LASC2019@fundaciba.uy

XV Latin American Symposium
on Chronobiology 2019
Colonia del Sacramento - Uruguay

Local Organizing Committee

Chairs:

Ana Silva, Facultad de Ciencias, Universidad de la República (UdelaR)

Pablo Torterolo, Facultad de Medicina, Universidad de la República (Udelar)

Members:

Luciana Benedetto, Facultad de Medicina, UdelaR

Andrés Canavero, Centro Universitario Regional Este, UdelaR

Santiago Castro, Facultad de Medicina, UdelaR

Alicia Costa, Facultad de Medicina, UdelaR

Lilián Chiappella, Hospital Pereira Rossell, UdelaR -Ministerio de Salud

Lorena Lacuesta, Facultad de Veterinaria, UdelaR

Claudia Pascovich, Facultad de Medicina, UdelaR

Mayda Rivas, Facultad de Medicina, UdelaR

Alberto Rodríguez, Facultad de Medicina, UdelaR

Bettina Tassino, Facultad de Ciencias, UdelaR

Marta Vázquez, Facultad de Química, UdelaR

Scientific Advisory Group

Argentina: Fernanda Ceriani, Instituto Leloir, Buenos Aires

Diego Golombek, Universidad de Quilmes, Buenos Aires

Brazil Vania D'Almeida, Universidade Federal de Sao Paulo, Sao Paulo

Fernando Louzada, Universidade Federal de Paraná, Curitiba

Gisele Oda, Universidade de Sao Paulo, Sao Paulo

Chile: John Ewer, Universidad de Valparaíso, Valparaíso

Adrián Ocampo, Universidad de Chile, Santiago

Mexico: Carolina Escobar, Universidad Autónoma Nacional de México

Pablo Valdez, Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León, Monterrey

Extra-region: Giancarlo Vanini, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, USA

XV Latin American Symposium
on Chronobiology 2019
Colonia del Sacramento - Uruguay

Plenary speakers

Chronobiology of interspecific interactions in a changing world

Noga Kronfeld-Schor
Tel Aviv University, Tel Aviv, Israel

Sleep: lost and not found

Horacio de la Iglesia
University of Washington, Seattle, USA

Torpor and sleep: what's the link

Roberto Amici
University of Bologna, Italy

Sleep features that optimize adaptive memory reorganization

Gina R. Poe
University of California, Los Angeles, USA

Please, check the preliminary program at the LASC 2019 website to learn more about the 8 symposia and other academic activities that have been already confirmed

XV Latin American Symposium
on Chronobiology 2019
Colonia del Sacramento - Uruguay

Early Registrations and Abstract Submission have opened from April 1st, 2019 to June, 30th, 2019, and will be managed through the LASC 2019 website

Registration Dates
Early	Late	On Site
01/04/19 - 30/06/19	01/07/19 - 31/09/19	7 - 11 /10/19

Registration Fees (US$)*
	Early	Late	On Site
Students/Postdocs 	195	250	350
Senior	400	500	600

* The registration fee includes the participation in all the scientific activities, lunch services, and the final banquet

 Due to early success in fundraising, Students/Postdocs registration fees were reduced from US$250 to US$ 195

Please, make sure to browse the LASC 2019 website carefully to explore all the activities that might interest you as well as to search for opportunities for financial support and housing facilities.

Join us in the celebration of the 30 years of LASC!!